USE OF BROWSING COOKIES (COOKIES)

What are browsing cookies and how are they used and managed?

Browsing cookies, also known as "cookies," are small text files stored on your device. They contain information about you, such as your preferred language, the pages you visited on our sites, your interests in the products you viewed, your country of connection, the operating system you use, the platform, the browser, and the device category you are using. This data allows our websites to remember your preferences when you return to our sites with the same device and browser. Additionally, they are used for web analysis to improve our service.

How to manage your browsing cookie settings?

Except for strictly necessary cookies, which are automatically enabled, the use of preference, performance, or marketing cookies on your device requires your consent, which you can withdraw at any time by adjusting your browser settings. However, please note that disabling cookies may affect your experience using our services.

You can customize your browser settings to allow or block the storage of cookies on your device. Refer to your browser's support page for instructions on managing browsing cookies.
